Marx Francis Bradley

Marx Francis “Brad” Bradley, the son of John H. and Josephine F. (Marx) Bradley, was born January 28, 1924 at Imogene, Iowa, and passed away March 30, 2003, in Shenandoah, Iowa.

Growing up in the Imogene and Shenandoah areas, Brad attended country school near Imogene and later attended and graduated from Shenandoah High School in 1941. In 1943 he joined the U.S. Army serving in Company “A”, 80th Tank Battalion. For several years Brad was employed by Peter Kewitt Construction Company living and working in Greenland for seven years and Oregon for two years.

On December 26, 1964, Brad was united in marriage to Lila M. Webster at St. Louis, Missouri. After living for a short time in St. Louis, they moved to San Diego, California, where Brad was employed by the National Steel Ship Building Company. In 1991 and after his retirement, they moved to Shenandoah.

Brad was a member of St. Mary’s Catholic Church, Eagles Club #3849, American Legion Post #88 and Shenandoah Elks Club #1122. He enjoyed following sports, especially baseball.

Preceding Brad in death were his parents; daughter, Jean Kaufman; brother, Jack Bradley; and sisters, Cathryn and Lillian Bradley.

Survivors include his wife, Lila Bradley of Shenandoah; two sons, Ron Tate of San Diego and Mike Bradley and wife, Trudy, of Corona, California; four grandchildren; one great grandchild; plus other relatives and friends.
